

Step by step

Chances are, your database lab machine already has the needed software pre-installed and pre-configured just for you by your subject coordinator (how nice of him).

If your one of these people, follow the simple instructions on the following page.