

SO HOW DOES THIS WORK?

After reading a text file containing Textual Conceptual Modelling Language (TCML), the product produces several artifacts.

The end-user can then use these as heuristics to evaluate their conceptual schema design.

What are you waiting for? Higher grades are just a page away. PS: Windows is required